These details are processed, and retained in line with NHS and GDC guidelines.

We do not share your details with any other parties other than the ones we require to process your data eg software of excellence (software provider) or specialists we refer to.

NHS guidelines advise us on the length of time to hold your details and your right to be forgotten – the Dental world is a 'special category' due to the information we process.

We have robust security systems in place to ensure the safety of your personal information.

You reserve the right to contact the ICO (Information Commissioner's Office) if you feel we could improve how we handle your data.
